The Household Cavalry has done everything possible from helping to put out the Great Fire of London, to working in the trenches, to riding horses as the Queen's Mounted Bodyguard. They even train in the jungle and in arctic conditions. As such they have needed lots of different uniforms over the last 350 years. Can you imagine what they'll do in the future? Can you design a uniform to help them?

Hint: don't forget headgear and footwear.
